Note: The child is one of the great blessings bestowed on man by Allah. Just as we are thankful for every blessing, we are also thankful for the blessing of our children, because every parent gives his child a good upbringing and manners.

Keywords: child, upbringing, education, parent, blessing, etiquette.

Sincerity is love of man, love of labor, love of God-given lust! And his return is incredibly pleasant - do you hear? "The egg fell to the ground and blossomed, the worm died and became silk!" If you are young to be a good parent, if you are deprived of your beauty, if you follow the Caravan and are sincerely devoted to the path of life, do not regret it. I wish you all the best if everyone has children tomorrow! May your honesty protect your children from calamities!

We must always remember that the child is a gift from God and treat it with care.

The stone of our childhood sins is heavier than a thousand sins of our children. While your 10-11 year old son dreamed of becoming a wrestler like Alpomish, putting his brothers on his shoulders, riding, and playing with his parents in his car, he said in front of his friends or brothers, "Yes. , lapashang, couldn't you too? ! You have crippled his spirit. The brothers look into his eyes coldly, he says to himself, "Dad, my mom is so ugly."

You give your life for this child: "You work, you build buildings. But don't expect mercy from a child with a sore tongue. "

The more children in the family, the longer the verb. You need to practice with one head in several colors. There is no other way.

"It simply came to our notice then. He will not open his mouth to you and put his head on your chest.

We have the name "Parent". God has clearly defined our duties and responsibilities to our children.

Parents have no buyers other than children! So why are they a buyer for you? For our kind words and kindness. Kindness in words is a phrase that comes from a rose - you reject it too, your nerves throw a sword, and most importantly, your program removes the burden with your consent.

God bless our children. Let them feel the wait at every step! Let's just say we don't have the sweetest language left. I mean, I've lost a lot of my understanding.

The language of the parents is sweet to the child, and the words of the parents are sweet to the child.

You need knowledge to be a parent. It's hard work to learn. It's hard to reuse it.

We need to teach our children the science of Hadith. The science of hadith is the light that shows how to live and how to be a perfect human being.

If you are sincere, you will find a cure for your pain, you will feel your mistakes. Good wishes are born in your heart.

If a person's heart is not pure, society will not benefit. Hadith is one of the factors that purify the human heart.

It is true that the answer to everything that comes out of our tongues, our hands, our tongues, comes back. So we need to be the center of attention at every step!

The atmosphere in the family is created by the woman.

The benefits a woman brings to the air are enormous. But the damage is even greater. To reduce this anxiety, a girl's forehead should only be raised with knowledge, filled with knowledge, clothed with knowledge.

Teaching others what you know is the best way to repent!

If these words were an ointment for your pain, I would be happy.

With God's help. God bless us.

Children are the future masters of decoration, beauty, life. In order for our children to grow up to be a generation that will make a significant contribution to the development of society, we need to be greedy in dealing with them and in providing them with the right education. Raising a child requires a great deal of parental effort and care. There are many modern ways to raise a child. Here are some of them:

Do not hit the child

The child's personality is formed at an early age. Therefore, it is important not to beat him, to interrogate him rudely in public, to punish him immediately when he makes a mistake, to ignore him, to talk to his peers and play with him, because this is his identity. weakens, negatively affects the psyche. . . There are other lesser penalties that can be applied when an error is made. For example: depriving him of what he loves, staring at him harshly or temporarily imprisoning him, not talking to him and not pulling his ear.

Story before bed

Always choose any useful and meaningful story and tell it to your child before bed. Don't tell scary stories that scare your child out of the environment. Choose your story based on your child's age and thinking. They prefer to describe. You can also tell him stories about the prophets, convey any idea to him in the form of a fairy tale to get your baby's attention.

Teach your child to be clean

From the age of two, teach your child to brush their teeth three times a day, brush frequently, make a bed with your help, wash their hands before and after meals, and follow toilet etiquette. Leave some things, such as eating, under control. Then place the food in a non-perishable container. If he spills food, don't fight him. Over time, his self-confidence will increase and he will no longer need your help. Otherwise, you will quench his desire to eat.
